

Dr Mark Collis, Ms Emma Robertson and Dr Sarah Anderson – Blueprint for Youth Justice in the ACT 2012–22

Important dates

Nominations open: 24 March 2017

Nominations close: 19 May 2017

Deadline extended to 2 June 2017

Winners will be notified in October 2017

Winners will be recognised at a presentation at Parliament House, Canberra.

Beach Watch has reduced the incidence of crime at beaches and surrounding car parks.

Australian
CRIME AND VIOLENCE
PREVENTION
Awards
2017

Australian Government
Australian Institute of Criminology

Australian
CRIME AND VIOLENCE
PREVENTION
Awards 2017

Are you involved in a project that is working towards a safer community?

Do you know of a worthy local program that has reduced crime or violence?

The annual Australian Crime and Violence Prevention Awards (ACVPA) recognise and reward good practice in the prevention or reduction of violence and other types of crime in Australia. The awards encourage public initiatives, and assist governments in identifying and developing practical projects which will reduce violence and other types of crime in the community.

Any government agency, not-for-profit organisation or individual person making a significant contribution to a project in Australia can be nominated for an award. Projects may address specific groups such as rural and remote communities, women, children, youth, family, migrant, ethnic or Indigenous communities, or specific problems such as alcohol-related violence.

Last year, fifteen projects were recognised as winners. The ACVPA Board is again calling for nominations for 2017.

Who can enter?

Nominations are open to projects of all sizes, including smaller initiatives involving local community groups. The project must have been fully operational prior to 1 February 2016. Anyone can nominate a project for the awards. It may be a project you are involved in, or a project that you believe deserves recognition.

The awards are designed to reward benchmark projects, as well as projects which exhibit good practice in the prevention or reduction of violence and other types of crime in Australia.

How do I nominate?

For more information on the awards, including a nomination form and handy hints and tips, please visit the ACVPA website at www.aic.gov.au/acvpa

Clean Slate Without Prejudice develops strong working relationships between the community and police.